"Chiarella mineral water springs from the heart of the mountains surrounding Lake Como. It is directly from the rocks of Mount Grana above Plesio that originates its unique blend of minerals with well-documented health properties. Mount Grana, a rocky gem nestled among the Larian mountains, is the source of the precious minerals that enrich Chiarella water, known for having one of the lowest sodium levels in Europe and an unmistakable mix of so-called positive minerals such as calcium, magnesium, and potassium. After centuries of being known as 'good water', cherished by the local population for its quality and beneficial effects, CHIARELLA water has been bottled directly at the source in the municipality of Plesio, above Menaggio, since 1964, and continues to honor its promise of purity and quality."
